

Why train online?

CCBOOTCAMP has been conducting live onsite instructor-led Cisco training for over ten years. Seven years ago we began conducting online training. We are known for our cutting edge live instructor-led boot camps and have turned these same boot camps into highly effective live online instructor-led trainings.

CCBOOTCAMP embraces advancements of technology in learning. Our focus is Cisco training. We have adopted training strategies for our online environment that mimic those in our onsite boot camps; making these boot camps just as effective as onsite training.

With today's technology there is no need to spend time traveling to and from training courses. Our boot camps are identical to attending onsite at one of our facilities. You get the same materials, same equipment access, and same instructor interaction all without the hassle of traveling.

We have helped hundreds of companies, including Fortune 500 and the US Government, attain certification and training goals while keeping ancillary costs to a minimum if not eliminating them completely.

How it works?

The day you register...

CCBOOTCAMP will send you an official confirmation for the course. If pre-study materials are required prior to class, we will send the material to you via UPS upon registration.

One week prior to your boot camp...

You will receive an invite via email from your CCBOOTCAMP instructor or Student Coordinator. This is how you will access the online training classroom.

The Friday before your boot camp....

You will receive your official course material. This material is yours to keep. Your instructor will refer to the material throughout your course.

During your boot camp...

You will have full support of the CCBOOTCAMP Team. Your CCBOOTCAMP's Support Team consists of: the Instructor, Student Coordinator, IT Staff (for rack support), and your Education Consultant. You may contact any Team Member at anytime for support.

Our interactive online training classroom lets you:

- View presentation slides in real time
- Listen live as the instructor walks you step by step through the course
- Communicate freely with your instructor via a microphone or live chat window
- Access CCBOOTCAMP's real lab equipment just as you would if you physically attended
- Have the instructor review your labs or assist you when you need help
- Have full access to your instructor throughout the boot camp

As with all of our boot camps...

Your training does not end when class ends. You are in control of your days and nights and may continue your learning by completing additional practice labs or reviewing course material. You have access to your lab equipment 24 hours each day you are enrolled.

CCBOOTCAMP stands behind our training...

We have developed time tested resources that you may use such as our online discussion forums: www.routerie.com, www.securityie.com, www.voiceie.com; rack time; instructor mentoring; and additional online certification courses. Our success is your success.
